Storyboard

Joe is a new freshman at the University of South Carolina and is tired of walking to class. Therefore, he starts driving to his classes.
Joe soon realizes that university parking is terrible and he can never find a spot and ends up getting several tickets. Joe does not want to pay for a parking pass as it is too expensive.

Joe scours the web and finally finds the Passport Parking App that displays all the open parking spots across campus and how long he is able to park there for.

Joe is now able to make it to class on time and is more productive than ever before in his classes due to his time management with the Passport Parking App.

Diploma
4.0

Joe graduated from UofSC with a 4.0 and he thanks it all to the Passport Parking App!
